

DAY17:MODULES

--> a module is a python file (.py) that written using function, variables, operators, et..

1. built-in modules

-->The modules are developed by the programmer's and those comes with installation

1. math

```
import math
print(math.pow(2,3))
```

2. os

```
import os
print(os.getcwd())
```

3. sys

```
import sys
print(sys.version)
```

4. random

```
import random
print(random.randint(1000,9999))
```

2. user-defined module

--> which are create by the user

importing specific funtion from the module

syntax--> from modlue import function

from friday import sub

```
print(sub(9,10))
```

using alias name

syntax--> import module as alias name

```
import friday as fy
```

```
print(fy.add(9,10))
```